

BiBnet.com is the online marketplace. Just as distributors bring their products to NATPE and MIP to sell, they list their programs on BiBnet.com. And just as program buyers walk the floors looking to make acquisitions for their stations, they visit BiBnet.com to research, browse, and shop the shows to fill their schedules.

For each of the markets, distributors build their booths, generate their promotion materials, and prepare their screening tapes. Now, that selling opportunity can be duplicated on BiBnet.com.

It's called a Cyber Booth. It's your space on BiBnet.com to sell your products with all of the marketing materials, photographs, clips, promo reels, one-sheets, etc., that you bring to a show.

● Elements of Your Booth

Your Library

- Once in your booth, a buyer will be able to search and browse your library with the same functionality as on BiBnet.com.
- All the data for your text listings will be driven from our robust database.
- When a buyer is searching on BiBnet.com, every one of your program listings will contain a link to your booth to constantly drive traffic to you.

Your Marketing Materials

- We will encode all of your text, photos, and video images in order to create a complete media kit for each program.
- Photographs, one-sheets, press kits, and video clips will be a part of every program listing. Rather than just a text listing, you'll be able to provide the buyer with a complete multimedia presentation, just as you do in your tradeshow booth.

Client Servicing

- Digital Assets Management and Delivery-- We will digitize all the marketing and collateral materials that you provide to clients when they license programs.
 - Scripts
 - Synopses

- Music Cue Sheets
- Broadcast-Quality Radio and TV Spots
- Press Kits
- High Resolution Images
- These materials will then be housed in your cyberbooth, in the client servicing area.
- We will also provide all your materials to you on CD-ROM.
- When a buyer licenses your show, you will provide them with the password and URL so they can take delivery of the materials right online.

Other

- Press Room — Post press releases, media kits, and news articles.
- Career Center — Post job listings and career opportunities within your company.
- Alert Services — Enable buyers to opt-in to receive special e-mail notices directly from you about new programs, shows you'll be attending, or information on your company.
- Custom Traffic Reports — Each month you will receive a detailed report indicating who visited your site and what they were looking for. This will provide your sales force with great leads!
